Incoll is a leading independent project management consultancy operating from offices throughout Australia employing over ninety (90) staff with forty (40) project staff in NSW.

The company is wholly owned by the Directors and key staff interests and our corporate aim is to continually challenge the boundaries of project excellence and deliver solutions which exceed our clients' expectations.

As a specialist sector within the organisation our residential aged care group has worked with various clients to develop facilities which provide high levels of care and comfort for the residents and staff.

Incoll takes pride in achieving good outcomes for our clients and has gained a reputation in this sector with repeat clients and referrals being the core of our business.

The services we can offer providers is to source possible sites, organise design teams, work with Council and communities to achieving Development Approval, tender and appoint the Builder and manage the construction to completion, certification and occupation.

The process of building a new nursing home, or renovating an existing facilities is extremely time consuming and full of trips and hazards with the associated stress and Incoll looks to assist with the process whilst ensuring that the client is fully informed and aware of any decisions being made.

Incoll is strongly committed to upholding high standards of environmental awareness and advise clients in the push for environmental sustainability. We encourage our staff to be involved in this initiative and many are Green Star accredited and attend training in this area.

We have been involved in numerous refurbishment works ensuring compliance with 2008 requirements and completing staged extensions in occupied buildings. Our staff are fully aware of the need for safety and avoiding disturbance, maintaining progress with the minimum of disruption.

If you are interested in learning more of our capabilities and experience we would be pleased to meet and discuss your future requirements and how we may be able to assist.
